how quickly the technological flavour of the month changes at the beginning of the 1980 s many saw robotics as being something of a pana cea for those problems in the manufacturing industries which had been exacerbated by the world recession those working at the time in the field of robotics stressed that robots themselves were only part of the solution yet in many quarters the hype for the new technology apparently knew few bounds resulting inexorably in many industries painfully discovering for themselves a new realism closely followed by disillusionment in its wider sense the term robotics covers an extremely broad spectrum of technologies ranging from extremely flexible highly sensory and integrated systems capable of handling a very diverse product range through to comparatively inflexible high volume systems which can merely handle slightly different variations of the same basic product as a result of the one buzzword referring to such a variety of actual system types the disillusionment which started to become apparent during the early 1980 s acted as something of a double edged sword a given company might consider a particular robotics based technological solution to its production problems find that it was unsuitable and so renounce all robotics approaches as inappropriate yet just because one position on that spectrum of technological solutions was unsuitable for the company should not have led them to assume that there was no other robotics solution that was appropriate infectious diseases are associated with approximately 20 of global mortality with viral diseases causing about one third of these deaths besides newly emerging and re emerging viral infections will continue to pose a threat to human survival globally in this case scientific advances have greatly been increased to defend against those pathogens for example rapid genomic sequencing proteomics epigenomics nanotechnology and other advanced tools are being applied to detect viruses at the point of care and to track their spread within human populations as well as to understand virus host interaction and virus induced pathogenesis from rapid identification of new viruses to prevention with vaccination and treatment with effective therapeutics biomedical research has continuously provided tools to meet the constant threat of emerging viral pathogens despite these advances each new disease brings unique challenges to scientists every year so we must stay at the cutting edge of scientific discovery working energetically to develop new tools to combat the ever changing threats they pose our research topic highlights such advanced and new technology based virus research which definitely bolsters the researcher s ability to tackle emerging re emerging and stable viral pathogens we are credulous that the papers including in the e books will be beneficial to the experts in the field to understand the molecular immunological ecological and clinical aspects of the next generation researches for the prevention and control of infectious diseases caused by viruses
